Madeleine Mattera - Risk and Governance

Madeleine has over 25 years' experience helping financial services clients with their risk, regulation, governance and audit challenges. Her career spans banking, superannuation, insurance, asset management and fintech. She has held executive positions for major consulting firms including as National Practice Leader, Senior Partner, and within businesses as Chief Internal Auditor and Chief Risk Officer.

Managing Director, Adrian McGarva says: "we are delighted that Madeleine has joined our team after almost a decade of close contact with PFS. We have seen first-hand how Madeleine brings her unique ability to understand the nuances of client problems to find solutions responding to their needs. Her extensive experience and exceptional skill set add to PFS' existing risk and governance capability. She brings a reputation for excellent client service, complemented by first-hand experience working with financial regulators. She greatly enhances our ability to bring together multi-skilled teams to support clients across financial services."

Madeleine is an experienced Non-Executive Director as well as a Certified Internal Auditor and Registered Company Auditor. She will be focusing on utilising her skills on issues in risk and governance throughout financial services.
